a satesman for Benedict & Gaffney, the coffee merchants, of 181 Duane streat.

She was the widow of William Warling, a Hoboken diamond cutter, when she married Mr. Korn, and she had two children, Edwin and Florence Warling.

On the afternoon of May 5 Janitor John McCann, of the flats at 101 West Si.ty-eighth street, where the Korns lived in comfortable circumstances, heard a childish voice crying "murder" Rushing up the stairs he met Edwin Warling, eleven years old, who cried out; "I am shot and I am dying!"

When Patrolman McGaffney came up the boy was induced to tell the story of a pathetic tragedy. At lunch time is mother, who had been writing by a window all the morning, with a wild, varant stare in her eyes, arose, sealed ie written matter in an envelope and then called the children to lunch.

There were only a few rolls on the table and a tin cup. Taking up the cup Mrs. Korn added a little water to it, and, telling the children it was medicine, induced them to drink it.

The, taking a 22-calibre revolver from the mantel she fired at Eddle, Next she seized little Florence, and, after hugging the child in a parxysm of love, shot the little one in the breast.

Then the frantic woman attempted to end her own life with a buner fired into her breast.

Ponceman McElrath at once hastened to the Korn apartments, where he found the mother and child unconscious. On the table stood the tin cup, which, it was subsequently ascertained, contained a mixture of sulphur and phosphorus scraped from matches, flour and water.

On the mantel was the sealed envelope bearing the inscription:

"Whoever finds this please open it."

The envelope held two five-dollar bills and a rambiling, incoherent letter, stating that the woman had suffered torture since last August from an incurable disease, and attributed her troubles to her husband.

Her murderous attack on her children she explained in this sentence: "I love my children so dearly I cannet.

Dr. Carlos F. MacDonald, State Commissioner in Lunacy, has examined Mrs. Korn in her cell at the Tombs several times, and was in court to-day, prepared to give his opinion as to the woman's mental condition, for it is claimed by her counsel. Janitor John McCann, the next witness, told his share in the events of that day, and then recess was taken.

As the medical experts in insanity agree that Mrs. Korn was insane the day of the tragedy there can be but one outcome, and that acquittal. If y she is sane now, as Mr. Jerome says, she will go tree.

After the recess Mrs. Korn was called to the stand. She told how the death of the three-months-old baby born to her and Mr. Korn had made her ill, and of strange hallucinations that afflicted

Mrs. Margaret Tall, who was a neighbor of Mrs. Korn in Brooklyn, testified to her morbid disposition. Lawyer Jerome read a statement from Dr. John C. Shaw, of 2 Sidney place, Brooklyn, to the effect that Mrs. Korn suffered from mental depression, and Dr. J. A. Booth testified that he thought Mrs. Korn was insane at the time of the tragedy. Dr. Carlos F. MacDonald testified that she suffered from melancholia. When the case was given to the jury they returned a verdict of "not guilty" without leaving the court-room.

There still remained indictments against Mrs. Korn for arssault and attempted suicide, and she was returned to the Tombs in a cab.

Some disposition will be made of her on Monday. Probably in the face of the recommendation of Drs. McDonald and Booth she will be committed to Matteawan for reatment.

ANDREWS CALLS A POLICEMAN.

Incates was authorized by the Clearing-House Committee this afternoon.
Altogether $2,150,000 was issued, and none was cancelled. This makes a total issue outstanding of $25,400,000.

Members of the Committee who were seen after the meeting said that the banks were all in good condition, and that the large issue of certificates was not indicative of any embarrassment, but simply to facilitate the business of the banks.

It was reported examples run by Men After Work. Since William S. Andrews became ommissioner of Street Cleaning, the politicians who have been complaining hat Mr. Brennan didn't take proper care of them have been constant visitors at his office in the Stewart ituilding.

Later General Electric went off to 32 1-4, a drop of fourteen points.

The rest of the market went off in sympathy, and it was reported that failures were impending.

The great break in General Electric caused less decline in the general list than had been anticipated, especially as the attack on the stock named was accompanied by rimors that a receiver for the Company was about to be applied for.

Rumors were also circulated that the bank statement to-morrow would show a heavy falling off in the reserves and the traders jumped in and sold freely. General Electric finally recovered from 31-1-4 to 351-2 a 351-2, and the other shares improved 1-4 to 11-2 per cent.
